ROOF BOX : Storage

The Roof Box

is another very special product that's just come off the line at Alu-Cab. It has so many really useful options for the overland explorer. Once you start to operate with a roof box you will start to wonder how you ever managed camping without one. This latest edition of the roof box is especially special though. Some points to note.

1. It offers up to 250 litres of storage space. That's more than 3 ammo boxes.
2. It is fully sealed. This means you can store your extra equipment in there. Away from the elements.
3. It has a new, in house designed, closing lever that allows one to adjust the pressure applied to the lid. It also closes from the one side only so no needs to run around vehicle to lock both sides.
4. It has a loose carpet in the base that can be removed for cleaning
5. The lid is shaped to just the correct size to take Our quick release max Trax holder. Out the way but within reach.
6. The box can be fitted with our extended load bars with jerry can holders on either ends. This way enabling one to also pack an extra 2 jerry cans alongside.
7. On a personal note. We have found the Roof box hugely useful to stack full of fire wood when heading into the bush, along with the option of loading your rubbish in when leaving. This added to the sleek lines and black finish make it a great addition to your overland gear.
